

Cappuccino-Marble-Polished

Cappuccino Marble is the newest entry to our polished marble tiles range in 2009. Although cappucino colored stone tiles have been the choice of the kings in the ancient world with its beauty and strength, their modern popularity was recently resumed by new quarries opened around Korkutelli plateau in the Adalia region. The best preserved ancient theater of the world "Aspendos" is made of this stone; still used as a concert hall, and acts as the international showroom for cappuccino marble. Taking its modern name from the colour tone of the cappuccino coffee, it shows warm hues of beige, light brown, light walnut with a glossy effect. Suitable for anywhere indoors tiling whether it is a kitchen, bathroom, corridor or living room as well as large and wide spaces covering receptions, malls and halls. We are glad to introduce this internationally acclaimed polished marble with very competitive prices to crunched UK market. Our special offer prices for such quality and selection can not be beaten.
